Welcome

I'm Fabienne, and I have loved food, cooking and inventing recipes since I was a young girl.

I grew up in Paris, the youngest of seven children, with a Tunisian-born mother and an Italian father. Given my heritage it's no surprise that my food is packed with Mediterranean flavours.

Now, with several years professional catering experience, I am lucky enough to work with food every day – catering for corporate and family functions, running workshops and cooking parties and privately teaching adults and children to cook.

Whether you need a lamb tagine for 25, a French apple tart for 8, a cooking course for you or your soon-to-leave home teenager, or a cooking lesson in English or even in French for your petits chefs, I'm ready to spring in to action. Leave the shopping and the tidying to me, and let me help you and your family enjoy food, cooking and eating as much as I do.

To get a taste of what I can do, my latest news or course, you can watch me cooking some of my favourite things, listen to the Guardian podcast where I cook for Giles Coren & Claudia Roden, or read my Jewish Chronicle recipes.

If you have any questions, or are ready to order, please contact me on 07973 698046 or info@homecookingbyfabienne.co.uk.

Bon appétit,
Fabienne

TESTIMONIAL

"I previously had a website that I prepared quickly and built with a family friend. When my food business started to grow, I understood I needed to offer a professional and clear window of what I could offer to my customers. With her friendly, efficient, and organised approach Fiona Mocatta helped me very quickly to restructure my website with a straight forward and clear approach. I was able to give my customers all the answers they needed to know so they could call me and book me for their cooking party or catering in a few clicks. My business has since grown considerably. I totally recommend Fiona Mocatta."
